

Cell Phone & Electronic Device Use Policy

Refer Questions to: Library Administration, Ext. 6-7545

Effective Date: September 2001

Revised Date: July 2018

Approved By: Division Heads

The Health Sciences and Human Services Library is committed to providing a comfortable study environment, in which noise is kept to a minimum. Noise from cell phone use is disruptive to the study environment within the Library, therefore, the use of cell phones within the HS/HSL is prohibited in any open area. Anyone entering the building should end any cellphone conversation and turn down their cell phone ringer or turn their phone to vibrate to reduce noise disruptions. Patrons are asked to leave open areas of the Library to answer or talk on a cell phone. Acceptable places for cellphone usage include the study rooms and Tower rooms on the 1st, 2nd and 3rd floors.

Additionally, the use of other electronic devices that ring or generate audible noise is prohibited.

This policy was created in response to suggestions from patrons about noise produced by cell phone users within the Library.

This policy applies to all patrons of the Health Sciences and Human Services Library.

Non-compliance with HS/HSL policies is considered disruptive behavior and may result in the loss of Library privileges for the day.
